

SOOOO MUCH BIG NEWS

A C B

THERE'S SO MUCH...

...big news in this issue that it's practically big news itself. It's a lot for one humble newsletter to handle, even if it is Big News.

HOLLYWOOD, HERE WE COME

ACB is moving to sunny Hollywood, California, taking up residency in CIM Partners' exciting new Sycamore District. You can find ACB at 926 N. Sycamore, among some of the best new restaurants and shopping in LA.

It used to be enough in Hollywood just to be a movie star. But these days, if you can't dance en pointe, it just feels a little two-dimensional.

AND NOW FOR SOME MORE REALLY BIG NEWS

AMANDA ROSSIE JOINS ACB AS EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

After a six-month, national search, ACB has hired Amanda Rossie as our new Executive Director. Amanda brings over 15 years of experience in nonprofit fundraising, operations, and management. She has worked with organizations spanning the visual arts to public policy, all while nursing a not-so-secret desire to lead a contemporary ballet company.

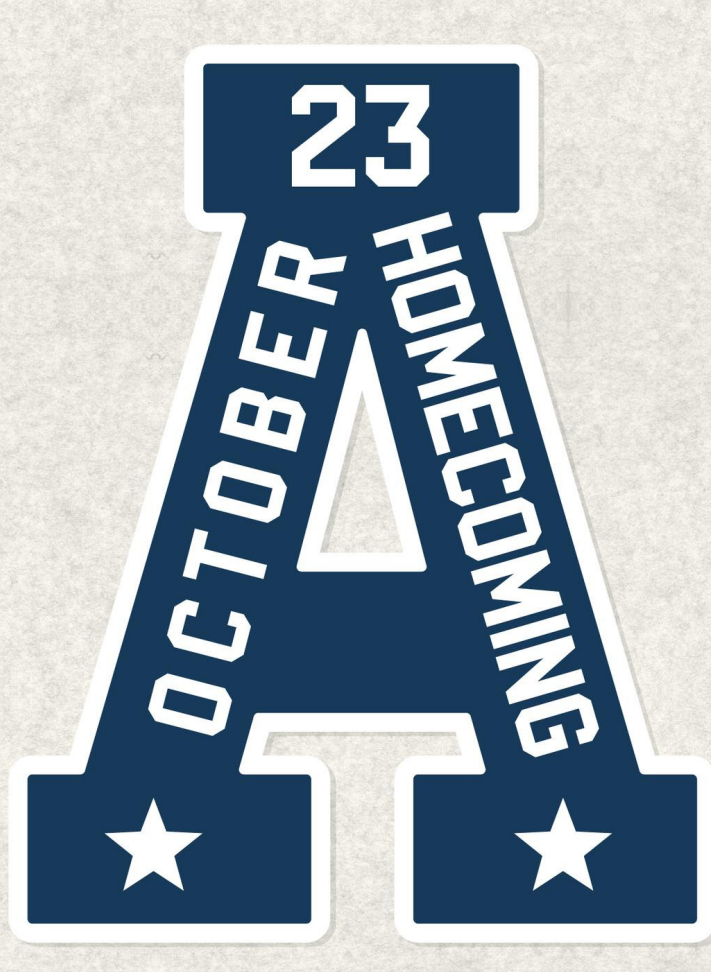

She's just arrived from Washington, DC this week. Feel free to say hello at amanda@acbdances.com.

SAVE THE NEW DATE

OCTOBER 23

Last month, you may have received a 'Save The Date' for ACB's Homecoming on September 25th (although it seems many of you didn't... apparently, the internet is still glitchy). Either way, there's a new date, so if you had a date for the old date and now you want to take a new date, you can, because there's a new date: October 23rd.

We're not going to blame the change on world-circling viruses or anything, but the new date will be outdoors. And it will be spectacular. Look for an invite in your inbox soon. It probably wouldn't hurt to check your spam folder, too.

2021

WE'RE NOT TEASING

And Homecoming isn't all. ACB's 10th season will be announced shortly.

And it's a big one.

Well this is all very exciting.
